I have endeavored to do this us fairly and thoroughly as possible, and while I am well aware that my conviction of the superhuman character of that Account permeates this book, yet I confidently appeal to the words of Moses on the one hand, and to Scientists upon the other, as to the correctness of my statements. It is a true saying that a belief is not necessarily true because it is old, nor false because it is new. Each one should stand, or fall, according to the character of the evidence adduced in its behalf - a principle for which the Reader will find use. There is little Science in this Essay that is not the common property of all who have in any degree kept up with the progress of Physical research.
